An exciting and innovative new seafood dining experience makes land in Coronado. Serêa at Hotel del Coronado, offers sustainable coastal cuisine with just a hint of Mediterranean flair, all prepared by homegrown San Diego chef JoJo Ruiz.

Overlooking the Pacific Ocean and close to the soothing rhythm of its crashing waves, Serêa offers fresh-catch cooking done in a simple, elegant manner for the ultimate sea-to-table experience. The approachable cuisine at Serêa features seasonal ingredients grown by Southern California farmers, ensuring top quality and designed to showcase the vast products of the region. Serêa's ocean-friendly menu is robust with fresh seafood and a raw bar. Like its namesake, Serêa is simply one with the water.

An environmentally-friendly menu, Serêa takes pride in working with local fisherman who practice sustainable fishing methods. In addition to California coastal cuisine, prime meats pepper the menu for those opting for more turf than surf. Serêa also features an indoor/outdoor bar that offers hand-crafted cocktails and local brews. And, because every palate is different, Serêa has an eclectic wine selection, which has been carefully curated to give guests the opportunity to pair meals with that perfect bottle.
